Lion Fondles a Child.

In Pittsburgh a savage lion fondled the hand that a child thrust into his cage. Danger to a child is sometimes great when least regarded. Often it comes through colds, croup and whooping cough. They slay thousands that Dr. King's New Discovery could have saved. "A few doses cured our baby of a very bad case of croup," writes Mrs. George B. Davis, of Flat Rock, N. C. "We always give it to him when he takes cold. It's a wonderful medicine for babies." Best for coughs, colds, grippe, asthma, hemorrhages, weak lungs. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all dealers.

BLACKWATER.

Dear Editor: I am sorry that you take my news for grand insults. I never in life thought of anything like that. I appreciate THE HERALD so much and like to read it, but I don't think the one told you had much to do. ELSEWHERE is an article that in many respects is a tribute to "Mark Twain," or Samuel Clemens, as he was known among old-time type stickers, away back in the days of Bill Nye. They were both humorists and of so rare a type that none succeed them. True, America today has its humorists, but none of them show the milk of human kindness, the life we live, as did Mark Twain, especially. At his demise he was without doubt the greatest literary character that America ever produced. He was a first cousin to our friend Will J. Lampton, also a writer of much fame, and thru the Lamptons he got his literary talent. Taking Mark Twain as a man, reporter, pilot on the old Mississippi and finally as the great writer he was America never did produce his equal. He had staminy and his straight life was evidenced in everything he did. Who would have shouldered the burdens of his publishing company and came clean as he did? Bill Lampton is man, ever such, but we doubt if he has the courage of his cousin, and God knows we do not say it to his disparagement. We never had the pleasure of his acquaintance, but anyone who ever read "Tom Sawyer" or "Huckleberry Finn" can realize that Twain was a character not to be duplicated unless it be by Bill Lampton, and that is as proud a tribute as we can give the living or the dead.

We recently interviewed twenty of Hazel Green's most successful business men and found that all of them when boys had been governed strictly and very frequently thrashed. We also interviewed some loafers and learned that most of them had been "mamma's darling," and the others had been reared by their grandmothers and were cigarette fiends.

THE HERALD appreciates the kindness of its correspondents and others who contribute essays and poems for publication, but, really, the paper is compelled to leave every article of interest because there is no room for them.

From every view point the farming class of this county is in better shape now than at any period since the civil war. More people own their own homes and little farms; more are free from the yoke of bondage inflicted by burdensome debts; more are becoming independent each year by making a comfortable living for their families; more are waking up to the necessity of giving their children better educational advantages, and withal, prosperity and contentment seems to prevail thru-out the county. Let progress still be our watchword.

Fair Warning.

Several times I have asked subscribers who are in arrears to come in and pay up so that I can pay my just debts. A few have come to my relief, but, alas, the great majority pay no attention to my appeals, and patience has worn out the seat of his pantaloons waiting for them to pay. This is the last time I shall ask them and if they are not squared up by June 1, 1910, they will have to pay a collector. Hoping I may have but few names to turn over to collectors, I am

An Improvement.
"My dear," said Mrs. Newlywed, her face flushed with the excitement of her afternoon in the kitchen, "I want you to be perfectly frank with me now. What would you suggest to improve these doughnuts I made today?"
"Well," replied Mr. Newlywed, lifting one with a slight effort. "I think it might be better if you made the hole bigger."—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

How To Find Out.
Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a brick dust sediment, or settling, stringy or milky appearance often indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back are also symptoms that tell you the kidneys and bladder are out of order and need attention.

What To Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills almost every wish in correcting rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. Corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.
You may have a sample bottle sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper and remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

SELIM.

This finely bred combined harness and saddle stallion will make the season of 1910 at my barn in Daysboro, at the low price of $5 TO INSURE A LIVING COLT. Money due when the mare proves in foal, or bred to another horse or jack, or traded away, and a lien on the colt will be retained to secure service money.
SELIM is a dark chestnut sorrel, 16 hands 3 inches high, with white stockings on hind feet. He is 7 years old this spring. He was sired by Pat Washington, a celebrated saddle stallion of Fayette county, and out of a mare by Golden Chief, combined horse.

DEMPSEY.

This fine young jack will make the season at the same barn at $5 TO INSURE A LIVING COLT, on same conditions as those of the horse.
DEMPSEY is a red sorrel, 14 hands 3 inches high, 4 years old August coming. He is out of a Black Mammoth jennet, and by Sam Brown's Red Dempsey. Breeders who have seen him pronounce him a model jack. All possible care taken to prevent accidents, but I will not be responsible should any occur.

Letter From James S. Day.

Midland, Texas, May 4, '10.
Spencer Cooper, Hazel Green, Ky.
My Dear Friend: How I long for the Kentucky mountains and dear old Hazel Green. Sometimes I think I will surely drop all business and come back and spend at least six months with my parents, friends and all that were so dear to me in my childhood. However, I find it hard to get loose from business—since I have become connected with so many.

For your information and others who may care to know I will tell you something of our town and my connection with it.

Midland is situated in the center of the southern plains—Llano Estacado—and has a population of nearly 5,000 thrifty, progressive people. We have five churches, and three of them cost $65,000; three banks, two of the buildings costing $175,000; three general merchandise stores, with stocks amounting to nearly $200,000, and doing an annual business of $500,000; two automobile garages and 150 automobiles; various other business and buildings too numerous to mention—all modern and doing well.

My connections and duties are as follows: Assistant cashier and director in First National Bank—the largest capitalized and strongest bank in Texas outside of the large city; secretary-treasurer of Midland Electric Light company; mayor pro tem and member city council; owner of the largest auto garage in this section; vice president of State Sportmen's Association; secretary-manager of Midland Gun Club; half partner in the largest general insurance agency here.

You will readily see that I am kept very busy all the time. Yet I have time to devote about one month of each year to my favorite sport—trapshooting. I am pleased to state that I have been fortunate enough to land some honors in this game, among them being the amateur record of the world when I broke 396 out of 400 flying targets at Sulphur, Okla., in May, 1908. It remains unbroken. Since that time I have won the Texas state championship two successive years, 1908-1909, on double targets with 500 Diamond Model. I was also one of the winning two-man-teams in Texas, 1908, with 500 Diamond Model.

With very best wishes for Mrs. Cooper, yourself and all my Kentucky friends, I am,
Yours very truly,
JAMES S. DAY.

Livingston, Tenn., May 9, '10.

Spencer Cooper, Hazel Green, Ky.

Dear Mr. Cooper: I have been intending every week for some time past to write for THE HERALD, but have not taken the time to do it until now. I find it hard to live without it. I am not made exactly homesick when I see a copy, but I have a feeling for "De Old Folks at Home." I enjoy everything it. Even the news of the visit of "Sister Sally and Uncle Jim," "The planting of the crop," "The selling price of hogs," etc., are all interesting. THE HERALD is dear to a mountaineer.

Our school closes May 25th. We have had an excellent school all the year. The total enrollment reached thus far is 527. Everyone is delighted over the success of it. It is chiefly due to the wise management of Bro. Derthick. He has excellent qualifications as a school man. The people here are carried away with him. I regret that our mountains lost him. It is a great joy to work with him.

There are all dear people. They make it pleasant for all the teachers. The town is growing rapidly, having increased since last September from 950 to 2000. The school is the chief reason. These people appreciate educational advantages.

You will be glad, doubtless, to know that we have begun work on our new church building. We hope to have it completed by August 18.

You will find enclosed $1 for one year's subscription to the paper. If that is not enough I will forward you the balance if you will notify me. Sincerely yours,
F. W. LONG.

May 9. BLACK EYES.

LITERARY HEROISM.

Great Works Accomplished Under the Most Adverse Circumstances.

Some of the world's most valued literary productions have been accomplished by their authors under circumstances of pain and hardship almost incredible.

Of the blind writers one immediately thinks of Milton and of our own Prescott, who, though not entirely blind, was almost so and performed prodigies in the way of historical composition while handicapped in a way calculated to dishearten the bravest.

Another great historian, John Richard Green, did his work in the midst of a hard battle against disease and pain. In 1869, when he was finally prostrated by the disease that had taken hold many years before, the doctors gave him no hope of living more than six months longer. Nevertheless Green set about the task of writing his "Short History of the English People," a task that he triumphantly carried to a conclusion notwithstanding racking pains.

We are assured on excellent authority that Elizabeth Barrett Browning wrote the greater number of her fine poems confined to a darkened room, to which, by reason of her infirmities, only her own family and most intimate friends could be admitted, while she was in great weakness and almost continuous pain.

Another brave struggle was that of the poet Heine. The last seven years of the German thinker's life were spent on what has been termed his "mattress grave" in such pain and suffering that he was obliged to consume doses of opium in quantity sufficient to have killed several men. Yet Heine not only endured all this with resignation and even cheerfulness, but managed to produce some of his most finished work, among which were "Last Poems and Thoughts" and his "Confessions."

To the list of literary heroes must be added the name of Scott. Sir Walter's manly fight against failing health and financial misfortune during the closing years of his life is too well known to need more than passing mention. When the commercial reverses came that left him staggering under a huge burden of debt, he, shattered in health, laboriously set to work "with wearied eyes and worn brain" to recoup. Painfully he toiled, sometimes as many as fourteen hours a day, until the end came, but nevertheless he succeeded in meeting every cent due by reason of the monumental indebtedness forced upon him.

Grant's memoirs were composed under peculiarly pathetic conditions. Confronted by the dismal prospect of dying from a malignant disease and ruined by reason of unfortunate financial ventures, the doughty general in order to provide for his wife finished under these distressing conditions that work only four days before his death.—New York Tribune.

CIRCULATION, - - - 200,000
Popular in Every State.

The seventy-fourth year of its existence finds the Toledo Blade more popular than at any period of its remarkable career. It is now read each week by more than a million people. Its field is not circumscribed by State boundaries, but involves the length and breadth of the United States, giving it an unquestionable right of claiming to be the greatest national weekly newspaper in the country.

The Weekly Blade is distinctly a family newspaper. The one object of its publishers has always been to make it fit for the American home, for the fireside, and of interest to every member of the family. To fulfill this purpose it kept clean and wholesome. The news of the world is handled in a comprehensive manner, and the various departments of The Blade are edited with painstaking care. The household page is a delight to the women and children; current affairs are treated editorially without prejudice; the serial stories are selected with the idea of pleasing the greatest number of fiction lovers; the Question Bureau is a scrapbook of information; the Farthest columns are conducted with the purpose of giving the patrons a medium for the exchange of ideas and information on farm topics. No department is neglected, but every feature is taken care of with the idea of making The Blade worth many times the price of subscription—one dollar a year. Sample copies mailed free. Address,

KENTUCKY KERNELS
Carefully Collected and Concisely Chronicled.

Winfield Pemberton, aged 33, married, and an employee of the Norton Iron Works foundry, Ashland, died last week as a result of swallowing carbolic acid with suicidal intent.

Governor Willson accepted the resignation of Captain John A. Steele, as trustee of the Confederate Home. Captain Steele gives failing health and pressure of private business as reasons.

George Pratt, a traveling salesman, of Catlettsburg, mysteriously disappeared, and no trace can be found of him. There are no accusations of wrong doing alleged against him and not the slightest reason for his disappearance can be given.

William Teel, aged 57, while being taken to the Brooksville jail from Augusta, shot himself through the heart with a revolver that he had secreted in his shoe. He was charged with assaulting Anna Deering, a 14-year-old girl of Augusta.

Congressman Hughes, whose farm is located at Kellogg, Wayne county, has made a purchase of several fine Holstein calves, which have been taken to his farm. They came from the government stock yards at Washington, and are thoroughbreds.

Reports from various parts of the state indicate that the first reports as to the damage done to the fruit and crops by the freezes of a few days ago were much exaggerated, and that in portions of the state, at least, there will be a fairly good fruit crop and the gardens were not hurt as badly as reported.

Peculiar actions on the part of young Floyd Frazier, under sentence of death at Whitesburg on May 19, caused the jailer, William Hall, to make a most systematic search of Frazier's cell. He found secreted away a bottle of carbolic acid, with which Frazier was determined to commit suicide, thereby cheating the gallows.

Garret Ingram, an employee of the L. A. railroad, while working with the bridge crew on the Hell creek trestle, fell from the top of the trestle to the ground, a distance of 38 feet, and sustained a broken knee pan and other painful injuries, which are dangerous, but not thought to be fatal. He was taken to a hospital at Richmond.—Beattyville Enterprise.

Berlin Lynch, foreman of Walter Grater's racing stable, at Lexington, was fined $25 and costs and sent to jail for five days by a jury for whipping Clifford Porter, an exercise boy under contract to Grater. Young Porter is the son of the late Clifford Porter, who was a noted trainer. The boy had been disobedient, and Lynch used a buggy whip on him—too severely, the jury thought.

The first night rider arrests have taken place in Livingston county, and the band is in jail at Smithland. Those arrested were Woodson Crawford, George Crawford, John Crawford, Roy Crawford, Jewell Robinson and John Allington, well-known farmers. Allington is said to have confessed, giving the signals and signs of the band. Woodson Crawford executed bond, the other five going to jail. It is charged that the band was located near the Thompson Chapel, where several mysterious fires have taken place. Recently the Deputy State Fire Marshal visited Livingston and the arrests are said to be the result of his work.

Mark Twain.

From tramp printer and river pilot to the foremost literary figure of his time is a scope of human endeavor permitted to few men.

There was nothing in the early life of Samuel L. Clemens that indicated even in the slightest degree that, at his death, he would be mourned as the premier of his country's letter or that his name would become a household word in every language and his works known under every sun.

As a boy, he was the "Tom Sawyer" of his own pages and he snatched his very pen-name from the crude vernacular of pioneer steamboating. Fame must have come to him most unexpectedly—an uninvited guest. Little could he have dreamed that the humble anecdote of a "Jumping Frog," committed to print from the oral traditions of the backwoods, would start him on a career which would lead to worldwide eminence. Once acquainted with Fame, however, Mark Twain grew fond of her society and courted her systematically and laboriously. The goddess who is adjectived as fickle remained with him and gave him her choicest favors. Long before his death he had made all civilization his audience.

Having met and mingled with all sorts and conditions of men, he was enabled to produce that humor which endures because it is founded on the ineradicable truths of human nature. He knew men as the are. True, he could sketch the impossible man, but he was at his best in depicting the real, the living type. His purely romantic writings are not his best. Those which depended for their foundation upon actual experiences and actual persons established his greatness. He could be fanciful, but he was never so interesting as when he was natural.

Mark Twain, though apparently an idler, was a man of prodigious energy with a wonderful capacity for work. His first fortune, won by his pen, was swept away in a business failure. He went to work, first to pay the debts the failure involved, and then to make another fortune. He did both—surely not a task for a leisurely man. It was this industry, drawing, of course, upon the talent that was in him, that was responsible for his high position in the literary world. But for this, he might have died a very ordinary newspaper grafter or a retired Mississippi pilot.

There is no established literary standard by which the works of Mark Twain may be judged. He scorned all limitations and was no devotee of style. He belonged to no school of literature. He was a cosmopolite of letters, who was equally at home amid the pageantry of France with "Jeanne d'Arc" or on the banks of the Mississippi with "Huckleberry Finn." And he gave us Books—not the "things in book's clothing" at which Charles Lamb sneered, but real Books with truth and life and inspiration as well as amusement between their covers.

On the occasion of Mark Twain's seventieth birthday, he was the guest of honor at what was probably the most notable dinner ever given in any other country. The host was Col. George Harvey and the guests included the most eminent literary men and women of the day. The list of diners constituted a veritable "Hall of Fame" and the responses to toasts were classics in themselves—and Mark Twain though undisputedly the greatest among them was easily the least pretentious, the most modest, at the board.

It will be a long time, perhaps, before American literature presents another name worthy to rank with that of Clemens. Among his mourners will be every person who has found pleasure in his quaint humor—and these are numbered by the millions.—Tampa (Fla.) Morning Tribune.

Never hesitate about giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to children. It contains no opium or other narcotics and can be given with implicit confidence. As a quick cure for coughs and colds to which children are susceptible, it is unsurpassed. Sold by all dealers.

CILLMORE.

The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Rena Hare, of Pierce, Fla., tried Cardui and afterward wrote: "I was a sufferer from all sorts of female trouble, had pain in my side and legs, could not sleep, had shortness of breath. I suffered for years, until my husband insisted on my trying Cardui. The first bottle gave me relief and now I am almost well. Try Cardui. 'Twill help you."

HORD SANITARIUM, SHELBYVILLE, IND.

Trained Nurses.
Fine Service.
Excellent Table.
Well Furnished and Well Ventilated Rooms.

We desire to call your attention to our Sanitarium treatment for the cure of Whiskey, Morphine, Opium, Cocaine and all drug habits. We send out no "Home Cures." None of them are a success. Every one must come to our Sanitarium, where we are specially prepared to handle this class of diseases, and where we guarantee a perfect cure in every case within ten days to two weeks for the liquor habit, and for the drug habit two to three weeks.

Our treatment is painless and harmless. We do not care how much you use, or how long, or from what cause, we can cure you to stay cured.

HERE IS OUR UNPARALLELED PROPOSITION: We will take any case of Drug or Liquor addiction, cure them, bear all expenses while the patient is here, such as treatment, board, room and attendant, and not exact one cent compensation until the patient is cured and ready to return home.

We do not send our patients home a physical wreck, with a so-called tonic to build them up. When you leave our Sanitarium you know you are cured, for you are perfectly free from all craving or desire for either drug or liquor. You are eating and sleeping well and taking no medicine home whatever. Our patients gain flesh and strength from the very beginning. If we do not cure you it costs you nothing, so you see you have everything to gain and nothing to lose.

A Beautiful Place for Rest and Recuperation. Every Modern Improvement.

Our Sanitarium is the finest in the State and ladies need not hesitate about coming to us, as they are attended by a lady nurse, and they will be shown nothing but the most constant and courteous attention.

We refer you to the Farmers National Bank and any business or professional man in our city. Upon application we can place you in correspondence with persons we have cured who will gladly answer any questions.

If you are seeking a cure without suffering, and one that is guaranteed to your entire satisfaction before paying one cent, we will appreciate a letter from you, and we will cheerfully give you any information. If you have any reason to doubt that we can not do what we claim, please write us your reasons and we will explain it to your satisfaction.

If you have a friend needing treatment we would appreciate a letter from you. Remember our Sanitarium is private and correspondence held confidential. Write us for terms, stating history of your case as nearly as possible.

Yours very truly,

The Place Where Liquor and Drug Habits are Cured With Astonishing Ease.
